About The Senior Comfort Guide

The Senior Comfort Guide, LLC was created in early 2010 with the vision of giving seniors and their loved ones a look at ALL their options. We began as an online directory of Northeast Ohio senior-service providers at www.SeniorComfortGuide.com

We've since expanded twice, first with an in-print directory for the Greater Cleveland region in March of 2012 (which we continue to produce). It's easily recognized by its green cover.

The blue book you hold in your hands represents our second expansion (January 2015). It's being used by seniors and their loved ones, hospital staff, senior centers, physicians and other health providers in and around Akron, Canton, and Youngstown (i.e. Columbiana, Mahoning, Medina, Portage, Stark, Summit, Trumbull and Wayne counties.)

Senior Comfort Guide is the only online and in-print guide focused on Northeast Ohio senior service providers.

The choice of quality care, whether it's a facility or service provider, is a crucial one. There is so much to consider that it's hard to know where and how to start. Senior Comfort Guide's FREE online directory and in-print directory are intended to make your search easier.

After you've examined our in-print booklet, we urge you to visit us online. At www.SeniorComfortGuide.com you'll find detailed facility and service descriptions, photos, videos, and more.

When you contact or visit any of the providers/facilities you've found through our Guide, please let them know that you learned of them through Senior Comfort Guide.

Overview of Senior Living Options

Today's seniors make their homes in a variety of settings that reflect their needs and personal preferences . . . from the family house, to retirement communities, assisted living facilities, and nursing homes.

Some seniors will live in more than one of these settings as time progresses.

The following text briefly describes these settings, beginning with the one that provides the highest level of care—the nursing home.

Nursing Home / Skilled Nursing

Many people assume correctly that nursing homes are intended for seniors who need long-term, 24-hour nursing care. However, some of these facilities (also known as skilled nursing providers) offer long-term care and rehabilitation to not just seniors, but anyone who requires these services while recovering from a serious health problem. You may, for instance, know someone who resided in a nursing home for a few weeks, a month, or more while undergoing rehabilitation for a stroke, joint-replacement surgery, etc. These stays were not “custodial” in nature, but “rehabilitative” and immediately followed a hospital stay.

Nursing Home Regulation

Nursing homes must be licensed by the state in which they are located. At the federal level, they must also be certified by Medicare and Medicaid.

Paying for the Services of a Nursing Home

When a senior, or a loved one acting in their behalf, chooses a nursing home as a long-term living option, private payment is generally required. Long-term care insurance, if the senior has it, may defray some costs. Medicare may cover specific services, such as physical therapy for a specified period of time, but Medicare will not cover most of the costs. The 24-hour nursing and custodial care within a nursing home is expensive and can quickly amount to an individual's life savings. A senior, or the person acting in their behalf, should investigate Medicaid if the senior's private funds are unlikely to meet his/her needs.

Seniors choosing a nursing home or skilled nursing facility for a rehabilitation stay (i.e., to recover from a stroke, joint-replacement surgery, etc.) can generally rely on Medicare for assistance as long as their stay meets Medicare's “skilled criteria.” In these instances, Medicare generally covers the first 20 days at 100 percent as well as a high percentage of the cost for up to 80 more days. Frequently, the senior's Medicare supplement/private insurance will cover the rest.

Assisted Living Facilities

When a senior does not require 24-hour nursing care, but does need assistance with activities of daily living (bathing, dressing, etc.), an assisted living facility may be an option. The size, layout, and services of these facilities vary. For example, one may look like a large family home while another may resemble apartments or condominiums. The senior's personal living space varies from efficiency, to single bedroom, to multi-bedroom. Frequently one or more meals are provided in a communal setting; and in Ohio, medication administration may be offered.

Seniors who live in these communities generally choose them because they like the social setting and are able to live as independently as possible while still receiving the assistance they need.

Assisted Living Regulation

In Ohio, assisted living facilities are regulated by the Ohio Department of Health.

Paying for Assisted Living

The costs of assisted living are generally paid out of private funds. Long-term care insurance, if the senior has it, may be of assistance depending upon the services outlined within the policy.

Some assistance may be available to U.S. war veterans and/or their spouses. For guidelines, contact the Ohio Department of Veterans Services (visit www.veteransaffairs.ohio.gov).

In Ohio, Medicaid does not cover room and board within an assisted living setting.

Memory Care Communities

Many nursing homes and assisted living communities include memory care units that offer some services for residents with Alzheimer's or dementia. There are also facilities wholly devoted to memory care. These specialty communities offer a thorough and structured schedule of activities designed for those diagnosed with Alzheimer's and/or dementia. Regulation and costs vary by facility, but most memory care communities come under the "assisted living" banner.

Independent Living

Independent communities for seniors vary in their look and services. As with assisted living, some communities may resemble apartments or condominiums, others may look more like cluster homes. Generally, these communities have floorplans that are senior-friendly—like the absence of stairs, wide doorways, and/or step-free showers. Services and social amenities might include transportation to local shopping, yard maintenance (such as with the cluster home), clubhouse/community room for family gatherings, community potlucks/parties/trips.

Independent living may be called by other names—retirement communities, senior housing, etc. These communities are not regulated like assisted living facilities or nursing homes.

Expect to pay for these living arrangements with private funds.

Keeping a Pet

For some seniors, keeping a pet is an important consideration when making an independent living or group home choice. If this option is important, ask if residents may keep a household pet. If that answer is "yes," be sure to also learn:

- What kinds of pets are allowed?
- How many pets per resident are permitted?
- Is there a size restriction on the pet?
- Is a deposit required, and are there any monthly fees imposed?
- Are pet care services provided by facility staff or must I find that on my own?

- What veterinary care services are required for pets?
- What other pet restrictions are imposed?

More information on this subject may be found at www.OneHealth.org, or call (216) 920-3051.

Home Health Care

Home health care may be both medical and non-medical in nature. It is intended to provide the assistance a senior needs while still allowing them to remain in their family home. Examples of medical services provided might include wound care or physical therapy. Non-medical assistance includes such things as laundry, shopping, cooking, and cleaning.

Home health companies are not required to be licensed by the State of Ohio. If they are certified to participate in Medicare, they must offer specific services which include skilled nursing.

Medicare and Medicaid have specific guidelines governing covered services. To learn more about these, visit www.medicare.gov or <http://jfs.ohio.gov/ohp/> (Ohio Medicaid). Seniors who have long-term care insurance should investigate the home health services covered by their policy.

Adult Day Care

If your loved one needs supervision or would benefit from a social setting and you would like them to live with you but need to work each day, you may find Adult Day Care beneficial. Caregivers use Adult Day Care to watch over their loved one while they gain a respite from their usual role or, more often, so they can work at a daily job outside of their home.

Some of these centers may offer services during evenings and on weekends, but they all offer services during the traditional business day.

Adult Day Care facilities may or may not be associated with other healthcare providers (like hospitals, assisted living facilities, home health care agencies). Services may range from social only to social and medical. Some specialize in dealing with memory loss.

Adult Day Care providers must be certified in Ohio. You can learn more about what these centers typically provide and recommended standards by visiting The National Adult Day Services Association (NADSA) website, www.nadsa.org.

Generally, you should not anticipate Medicare coverage for most Adult Day Care services. Contact Medicare for further guidelines or Medicaid (if your loved one qualifies). Long-term care insurance policies vary in covered services, so check your loved one's policy (if they have one) to see if any coverage applies.

Hospice

Hospice refers to a wide range of medical and support services provided within an individual's home, hospital, nursing home, or hospice facility. The intent is to provide care and comfort (not a cure) for terminally ill patients (life expectancy of six months or less). Hospice also provides counseling for patients and their families.

Hospice providers are licensed by the Ohio Department of Health.

As with home health care, guidelines and covered services vary with Medicare and Medicaid. Long-term care insurance, if applicable, may cover some services.

Respite Care

Respite care may be defined as a brief stay in a nursing home or hospice facility for a patient requiring round-the-clock care. The brief stay is intended to provide a rest or “respite” for the patient’s usual caregiver (frequently a spouse or other family member). Not all nursing homes or hospice facilities provide this service, so caregivers need to investigate which do.

You can, again, turn to the Medicare and Medicaid web sites for details on what services are covered.

Choosing a Physical Therapy Facility

Physical therapy is a non-invasive treatment approach for neuromuscular and musculoskeletal conditions. Physical therapy intervention combines exercise, modalities, manual therapy and education.

According to the United States Patient’s Bill of Rights, you have the right to choose health care providers who can give you high-quality health care when you need it. You have no obligation to receive physical therapy at any specific facility.

When choosing a physical therapy clinic, three things you should look for include:

- Expertise – Look for a therapist that has extensive experience rehabilitating a condition like yours
- Reputation – Look for a facility that has a great reputation in the community
- Attentive therapist – Look for a therapist that takes the time to listen to you and address your specific needs

More on Medicare and Medicaid

We’ve mentioned Medicare and Medicaid often as seniors rely on them to defray many of the costs associated with the living settings and services described here. We offer a brief overview in the following paragraphs, but urge you to visit their web sites for additional information.

Ohio Waiver Factsheet

The Ohio Home Care Waiver Program is a long-term care program that meets the needs of financially eligible children and adults who have significant disabilities and/or mental health needs. The program includes, personal care aide, home care attendant, home delivered meals, home mods, out-of-home respite, personal emergency response services, supplemental adaptive and assistive device services, supplemental transportation, waiver nursing services for individuals with physical disabilities ages 0-59.

Ohio's Assisted Living Waiver Program pays the costs of care in an assisted living facility for certain people with Medicaid, allowing the consumer to use his or her resources to cover "room and board" expenses. Individuals who meet certain service and care needs and meet established financial criteria may be eligible for Ohio's Assisted Living Waiver Program. To apply for the Waiver, individuals should contact their local Ohio Area Agency on Aging or call 1-866-243-5678.

Medicare

Medicare serves as health insurance for:

- Persons who are 65 or older
- Individuals under 65 with specific disabilities
- People at any age with End-Stage Renal Disease (permanent kidney failure that requires dialysis or a kidney transplant)

Medicare's Structure

Medicare Part A is applied toward the cost of hospital stays.

Medicare Part B is intended to defray the costs of outpatient services/test, visits to the doctor, etc.

Medicare Advantage (may be referred to a "C") can best be understood as an HMO or PPO that takes the place of Parts A and B. Seniors who choose this option must purchase it through a private insurer approved by Medicare.

Medicare Part D is the prescription drug component which recipients must purchase.

While Medicare covers a wide variety of senior medical needs, it is governed by many guidelines. You can learn more about and better understand Medicare by visiting www.medicare.gov or calling 1-800-MEDICARE (1-800-633-4227). TTY users should call 1-877-486-2048.

When does Medicare pay for a Nursing Home stay?

Who's eligible?

People with Medicare are covered if they meet ALL of these conditions:

- You have Part A and have days left in your benefit period. The benefit period begins on the day you were admitted into a hospital or a SNF as an inpatient stay. The period ends if there was 60 days in a row without inpatient hospital care.
- You have a qualifying hospital stay. You need to have a 3 day inpatient hospital stay (an outpatient hospital stay that includes observation does NOT count towards your 3 day stay). You must enter a Nursing Home and need skilled care within 30 days of your discharge from the hospital to qualify for the Medicare benefit.
- Your doctor has decided that you need daily skilled care given by or under the direct supervision of skilled nursing or therapy staff. If you're in the SNF for skilled rehabilitation services only, your care is considered daily care even if these therapy services are offered just 5 or 6 days a week, as long as you need and get the therapy services each day they're offered.
- You get these skilled services in a SNF that's certified by Medicare.
- You need these skilled services for a medical condition that was either:
 - A hospital-related medical condition. Any condition that was treated during your 3 day inpatient stay.

- A condition that started while you were getting care in the skilled nursing facility for a hospital-related medical condition.

Your doctor may order observation services to help decide whether you need to be admitted to the hospital as an inpatient or can be discharged. During the time you're getting observation services in the hospital, you're considered an outpatient—you can't count this time towards the 3-day inpatient hospital stay needed for Medicare to cover your SNF stay.

Remember, any days you spend in a hospital as an outpatient (before you're formally admitted as an inpatient based on the doctor's order) aren't counted as inpatient days. An inpatient stay begins on the day you're formally admitted to a hospital with a doctor's order. That's your first inpatient day. The day of discharge does NOT count as an inpatient day.

Special Note 1

If you refuse your daily skilled care or therapy, you may lose your Medicare SNF coverage. If your condition won't allow you to get skilled care (for example, if you have the flu), you may be able to continue to get Medicare coverage temporarily.

For out-of-pocket costs (and copays), please check with your Medicare provider.

Special Note 2

If you stop getting skilled care in the SNF, or leave the SNF altogether, your SNF coverage may be affected depending on how long your break in SNF care lasts.

- If your break in skilled care lasts more than 30 days, you need a new 3-day hospital stay to qualify for additional SNF care. The new hospital stay doesn't need to be for the same condition that you were treated for during your previous stay.

- If your break in skilled care lasts for at least 60 days in a row, this ends your current benefit period and renews your SNF benefits. This means that the maximum coverage available would be up to 100 days of SNF benefits.

Special Note 3

Your doctor or other health care provider may recommend you get services more often than Medicare covers. Or, they may recommend services that Medicare doesn't cover. If this happens, you may have to pay some or all of the costs. It's important to ask questions so you understand why your doctor is recommending certain services and whether Medicare will pay for them.

Medicaid

It is perhaps easiest to understand Medicaid as health coverage for persons with limited financial resources. The rules which govern who is eligible—which may consider age, physical disabilities, and other characteristics—vary by state (as Medicaid is provided jointly through state and federal funds).

Likewise, the services which Medicaid covers also vary by state.

To learn more about Medicaid in Ohio, visit the Medicaid section of the Ohio Department of Job & Family Services web site at <http://jfs.ohio.gov/ohp/>.

Finding Senior Services

Most communities have programs targeted specifically to benefit senior citizens. Those programs or services might include:

- Senior Centers (many offer health screenings, educational programs, social activities and more)
- Adult Day Care
- Assistance with Financial and/or Legal Questions
- Help with Meals (like Meals-on-Wheels)
- Senior Transportation (for shopping/medical appointments, etc.)
- Visitation Programs (to check the well-being of and offer companionship to older neighbors)

Your local Office on Aging is a good place to learn more about what's available in your community. You can find the phone number for an Office on Aging near you on page 28 of this Guide.

Choosing a Nursing Home

Much of the information that follows is specific for choosing a nursing home, but some of the guidelines could be of use when examining assisted living facilities as well.

Your search begins, of course, by looking for the names, addresses, and phone numbers of nursing homes near you. Our Guide provides an alphabetical listing of Assisted and Independent Living Communities beginning on page 68 and a list of Nursing Homes on page 82.

You should also know that Medicare has an online source, called Nursing Home Compare, that helps you locate and compare nursing homes. This useful tool can be accessed at www.medicare.gov/NHCompare. If you don't have a friend or family member who can help you look online, you can try your local library. You can also call Medicare at 1-800-MEDICARE (1-800-633-4227) and request printed copies of their guide for choosing and comparing nursing homes. TTY users should call 1-877-486-2048.

At Medicare's Nursing Home Compare, you can see details on health inspections, staffing levels, and a variety of other important indicators of a nursing home's quality. Examining this data, as well as visiting the facilities you're considering, are vital steps to making the choice that's right for you or your loved one.

Medicare's online site and printed guide also provide you with many of the questions you should ask all nursing homes under consideration. These questions cover such areas as:

General and Social Concerns

You or your loved one will want to know what social, recreational, religious, and other activities are available and if residents may choose or decline participation as they wish. Do residents have a private place to see family when they visit. May residents keep a pet or may their pet visit? What choices do residents have in what they eat and when they eat? What personal space is made available to them and may they decorate it as they choose? Is their primary language spoken by staff? If not, are there procedures in place that will allow them to communicate with staff? May residents follow their preferred religious practices, for example, when they require a special diet? Are there rules which residents are expected to observe and are they provided in writing?

Health Care Concerns

Perspective residents should find out how the nursing home prepares their Plan of Care. Which professionals are involved and is the resident included in the planning process? Can the resident choose which family member participates as well? Can the resident keep their own physician even if that doctor does not visit the nursing home? Can transportation be arranged for office visits? Who will the resident interact with on a daily basis (nurses, other staff) and will these individuals change frequently or remain relatively the same?

You should also know what types of therapy are available on-site. Does a social worker visit? Are a resident's medical concerns relayed to their doctor in a timely manner and by whom?

What preventive health measures are in place? Are flu vaccines and other immunizations offered? Do various specialists visit regularly like a podiatrist, dentist, etc.?

In cases of emergency, does the nursing home have a good working relationship with a nearby hospital?

Security

If you're making arrangements for a loved one who is sometimes confused or may wander, does the facility have safeguards that will protect your loved one? Are personal belongings safe within a resident's room? Are the facility doors always locked? only at night? never?

Visit Before You Choose

After you've made sure your possible nursing home choices are licensed by Ohio and certified by Medicare and/or Medicaid; and, after you've compared staffing levels, health inspection results, and other quality indicators on Medicare's Nursing Home Compare, you're ready to visit your perspective facilities.

The following Checklist comes from The Center's for Medicare & Medicaid's brochure, Your Guide to Choosing a Nursing Home. It's helpful to download or request the printed brochure through Medicare because in addition to the questions, it also provides you with space to write what you learn about the facilities you visit. While you might not feel the need to ask each of these questions, you'll probably find quite a few important ones that you would have overlooked had you not seen the list.

The Checklist

- Does the nursing home have the level of care I need?
- Does the nursing home have a bed available?
- Does the nursing home offer specialized services, such as a special unit for care for a resident with dementia, ventilator care, or rehabilitation services?
- Is the nursing home located close enough for friends and family to visit?
- Are the residents clean, well groomed, and appropriately dressed for the season or time of day?
- Is the nursing home free from overwhelming unpleasant odors?

Choosing a Facility

- Does the nursing home appear clean and well kept?
- Is the temperature in the nursing home comfortable for residents?
- Does the nursing home have good lighting?
- Are the noise levels in the dining room and other common areas comfortable?
- Is smoking allowed? If so, is it restricted to certain areas of the nursing home?
- Are the furnishings sturdy, yet comfortable and attractive?
- Does the relationship between the staff and residents appear to be warm, polite, and respectful?

Get Your Successful Aging "Tune-up" Starting at Age 50

Your body changes in 52 different ways between the ages of 50 and 80.

For example, you feel less thirsty—which can lead to dehydration, causing dizziness and mental fog. Your depth perception changes—affecting your ability to go down stairs. Your muscle turns to fat—meaning you can weigh the same but be weaker than you think.

Changes like these are why seeing a geriatric specialist is so important. That's why Cleveland Clinic has introduced a new program, providing annual "tune-ups" for people age 50 and older.

The Successful Aging Program offers one-hour appointments with a care team, including a Successful Aging specialist who is a board-certified geriatrician; a pharmacist, nurse and social worker. You can be referred to a nutritionist or physical therapist, if needed.

Visits include:

- Vision, hearing and other age-appropriate screenings.
- Memory assessment. Specialists also may discuss ways to maintain your brain health long-term.
- Frailty screening and fall-risk assessment.
- Medication review. Our geriatric pharmacist may talk with you about medication alternatives, reducing dosages if you're having unwanted side effects, and removing medications that you don't need anymore.

The team shares recommendations with your regular doctor.

Personalizing your care

"We focus on what matters most to each patient," says Cleveland Clinic Successful Aging specialist Ardeshir Hashmi, MD. “We make a healthcare plan to help you keep doing what you love, whether it’s continuing to work, travel or just walk the dog.”

Dr. Hashmi is the Director of the Center for Geriatric Medicine at Cleveland Clinic.

“We’ll talk about healthy eating and exercise habits, as well as immunizations and other preventive care that becomes important as you age,” says Dr. Hashmi. “We’ll also talk about keeping you mobile, which can include bone health, footwear and home safety.”

If needed, the Successful Aging program can connect you with:

- Physical therapy
- Occupational therapy
- Driving evaluation
- Audiology
- Ophthalmology
- Social workers, to help you with financial planning, home services, transportation or housing options
- Mobility devices

Why less medication is sometimes better

“We frequently take our patients off medications or reduce their dosages,” says Dr. Hashmi. “Often the medications that were perfect for you five years ago may no longer be appropriate.”

There are several reasons why. One is because your kidneys work more slowly as you age, so medications can stay in your body longer and build up. Another is because blood sugar naturally goes down as you age, so you don’t need as much medication to control diabetes.

“Doctors sometimes prescribe more blood pressure medicine than is needed for older adults,” says Dr. Hashmi. “That’s why you might feel dizzy when you stand up.”

Successful Aging specialists will take your blood pressure while you’re standing, to get a true reading. Your blood pressure is naturally higher when you’re sitting.

When to see a Successful Aging specialist

Too often patients see a geriatric doctor only after they notice memory problems or they’ve started falling a lot.

“If you wait that long, we have fewer options for promoting health,” says Dr. Hashmi. “Staying healthy and independent requires taking steps before things start going wrong.”

Patients should consider regular Successful Aging visits as early as age 50, he says.

Research shows that proactive interventions can help preserve your brain health and mobility as you age. Mobilization and exercise are proven to help older adults age gracefully and thrive longer.

Aging is a marathon, he says. Pace yourself earlier so you can prevent problems and stay in the race longer.

Cleveland Clinic is ranked No. 8 in the nation for geriatric care, according to U.S. News & World Report. It is No. 1 in Ohio.
